Continuation of Disposition of Claims: Claims pending in the application are 1-74,124,147,186,219,268,317,356,366,395,408,441,447,465,488,493,518 and 565.

Continuation of Disposition of Claims: Claims subject to restriction and/or election requirement are 1-74,124,147,186,219,268,317,356,366,395,408,441,447,465,488,493,518 and 565.

DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-74, 124, 147, 186, 219, 268, 317, 356, 366, 395, 408, 441, 447, 465, 488, 493, 518, and 565 are pending in this communication filed 04/10/01 entered as Pre-Amendment A, paper no. 4.
2. The IDS filed 07/12/02 has been entered as paper no. 8, the IDS filed 10/13/03 has been entered as paper no. 9, and the IDS filed 06/28/04 has been entered as paper no. 10.

Election/Restrictions

3. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-73, 147 & 488, drawn to processing relationship object representations, classified in class 707, subclass 103r.
 - II. Claims 74 & 124, drawn to defining a multilevel business organization, classified in class 705, subclass 5.
 - III. Claims 186, 219, 268, 447, 465, & 493, drawn to configuring a break key definition, classified in class 705, subclass 44.
 - IV. Claim 317, drawn to FSO related processing tasks, classified in class 705, subclass 35.
 - V. Claims 356, 366, & 395, drawn to entering a key value in the field of a template, classified in class 707, subclass 1.
 - VI. Claims 408, 441, & 518, drawn to a key definition and data element values, classified in class 715, subclass 517.

VII. Claim 565, drawn to a dictionary of data elements, classified in class 711, subclass 216.

4. Inventions Group I, Group V, Group VI, and Group VII and Group II, Group III, and Group IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Group I, Group V, Group VI, and Group VII has separate utility such as Group I has processing relationship object representations on a display screen in data communication with a Financial Service Organization (FSO), preparing and storing a processing relationship definition, Group V has separate utility such as entering a key value in a first field of a template displayed on a display screen, entering a database identifier in a second field of the template, storing the entered key value and the database identifier, and configuring the key vale to access the database identifier, Group VI has separate utility such as reading a key definition from a database, reading from the transaction-related data one or more data element values, and transferring the one or more data element values, and Group VII has separate utility such as a dictionary of data elements, receiving a selection of one or more data elements and storing the user-defined key in the FSO database. The subcombination has separate utility such as Group II has defining a multilevel business organization, defining one or more FSO objects, configuring a processing relationship, and storing the processing relationship structure in a FSO database, Group III has separate utility such as configuring a break key definition, receiving FSO data associated with an FSO transaction, storing the FSO data in a database, sorting the FSO data stored in the database, storing the sorted FSO data, collating the sorted FSO data, and generating the FSO report, and Group IV has separate utility such as storing a first smart trigger in a first memory, the first smart trigger comprising a first identifier, reading the first smart trigger from the first memory, and executing the first FSO related processing task.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II, III, IV, V, VI, and VII, the search required for Group II is not required for Groups I, III, IV, V, VI, and VII, the search required for Group III is not required for Groups I, II, IV, V, VI, and VII, the search required for Group IV is not required for Groups I, II, III, V, VI, and VII, the search for Group V is not required for Groups I, II, III, IV, VI, and VII, the search for Group VI is not required for Groups I, II, III, IV, V, and VII, and the search for Group VII is not required for Groups I, II, III, IV, V, and VI, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
9. During a telephone conversation with Attorney Mark Deluca on July 13, 2004, a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-73, 147, and 488 (a method for processing relationship object representations). Mr. Deluca elected with traverse with the right to select another group of claims after reviewing the restriction requirement. Affirmation of an election must be made by the Applicants in responding to this Office action. There will be no examination of any of the groupings of claims and inventions until a decision is affirmed by Mr. Deluca and the Applicants.
